

RUMOURS and Facts

The weekly news update for the week of 6.1.2110-13.1.2110

Lokite Attacked By Huge Insects

Rumour spread by Martha the Mediator

Have you heard about that guy who was attacked by the giant insects? My friend Maria told me he had bite marks the size of a child's hand and he was covered by them. From what I hear, the guy just wanted to go and look for some Old World metal to repair his plough - a day later he was found unconscious in a ditch covered with wounds. They say the guy ain't gonna make it and he has family and kids. Crazy Lokites, why do they always have to go out alone?

Red Hedgehog Makes Big Wins

Gossip heard in the marketplace of the Freyans

Yeah, I tell you, the Red Hedgehog is a gold mine. The place is crammed recently and there is like the best mood you can imagine. I don't know, maybe the guy there puts something into the beer or whatever. People tell me, he is hiring bouncers and paying quite ok.

Fried Lobbies For Crusade

Bulut the Trader justifies his price policy.

Yes my friend, I know this sword is very expensive but you know how business works - supply and demand, supply and demand, dear customer! And demand there is... have you not heard? Fried is lobbying in the council for a crusade against the Z'Bri. You know the guy, always eager to cross blades with the enemy. Council is a bunch of chicken of course, but people say Fried got good leverage this time. So, are you going to take that sword now or what?

Snow To Come

Guntar, the Lokite Seer.

Snowstorm, wicked shards of ice will come and kill us all. Snow everywhere and cold and pain. Yes, sunny it is at the moment and there is less snow than in 50 years - but mark my words, the tempest looms on the horizon.

Sextus to Preside Over Death Rite

Sticknin, the Helite bodyguard, chatting.

Sextus, Hel bless the old guy, he announced that he is going to hold a death rite this Saturday. I don't know the details but there is going to be some free food after the service and the ritual is supposed to accumulate energy for some synthesis thing, don't ask me, I am not a Dreamer.

Personality Profile: Steiner der Rittmeister

Bulut the Trader talks about Rittmeister Steiner

OK, I have never seen this guy but I heard that he has wings, four arms, and a scythe that gives you funny ideas in the head, if you know what I mean. They say, Steiner is a human, a serf of the Z'Bri but others think he is a real demon. They say he killed Fried's wife during his raids against our caravans or something like that. Nasty critter, that one.