

RUMOURS and Facts

The news update for April 2111

Edda leaves for a Crusade against the Red Bishop

Fat Klaus is spreading the word in the "Little Brother" tavern:

Edda, one of the Eyes of Brun has announced that she has volunteered to go on a crusade against the Red Bishop. She claims that Brun appeared to her in a dream and that she feels confident that she knows how to slay the Prince of the Sangis.

I am a bit surprised about that, truth to be told! I mean, she leaves two children behind - what are they supposed to do now?

*Company of the Stone accepts new members
for the first Time*

Reed talks to another bum in the gutter:

Know what I heard? The Company of the Stone has recruited some new members. Seems like they had a couple of setbacks in the recent year. They never took in anybody with their weird stone cult going on and stuff.

Yeah, I think I know these guys... had some dealings with them in the past and it sure did not do me any good. It will only be a question of time, before they turn on their new friends and rip their hearts out!

*Fried Attacks
Darkblade but Fails and is Crippled*

Oleg, one of the cronies of Fried, talks about his boss:

Fried has found and engaged the Darkblade! I was there and saw it all - three guys were dead in a minute and I only survived because I bolted like mad! Damn it... it's... I just couldn't stay. Now I cannot show my face in Fried's house any more, he will have my head.

Yes, you are right, he survived - but at what cost. His hand is crippled, wrinkled by the magic of the foul balde that fiend wields.

I am not sure, if it can be healed. Fried is not known for his diplomatic nature! So, now, he's having some trouble finding a healer. The Freyans boycott him since he called the Freyan high priestess a "frigid old witch". From what I heard, he is still wounded and lying in his quarters. Heard they want to fit him a hook...

Increased Activity at the Sky Tower

Sesua the Spiderwoman reports from her last trip:

The Sky Tower has long been inactive but now it seems that the Melanis Wizards have taken a new interest into us. Many flyers are coming and going and the fearful screams at night bode no good.

*Marek Halva Opens
Library and School
for Lokites*

Marek talks to a customer:
Yes, it is true. The company of the Stone is building a library and school accessible to all Lokites. Analphabetism and ignorance are the tools of the Brunites to keep us at the bottom. Only by education and knowledge can we ever hope to be their equals.

*Personality Spotlight:
Web of Knowledge Cell
Founded*

Sesua the Spiderwoman has founded the "Web of Knowledge" cell, a group of 5 scouts whose goal is to gain insights into the recent developments in the city of Monn. Sesua is afraid that the war between the Red Bishop and the Faceless Duke will soon end and that this means trouble for the city of Seck. Since the Brunites are unwilling to fund an expedition, Sesua is currently looking for a sponsor.
